Obituary.

Isaac Melsom, son of Hiram and Elizabeth Melsom, was born April 19, 1826, departed this life May 8, 1910, aged 84 years 1 month and 24 days.

He was united in marriage to Elizabeth Smith June 30, 1851. To this union were born 9 children, of whom 3 with their mother have preceded him to the spirit land a number of years ago. Six children, 16 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren are left to mourn their loss.

The deceased was born and lived in Pike county near Cynthia until a few years ago when he decided to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Millard Kneisley, at Marshall.

He desired to spend a few days with his granddaughter, Mrs. Elliott, near Belfast, when the hand of affliction seized him and after an illness of a little over a week his spirit took its flight to the world beyond.

During his last illness it was our privilege to visit him and on Saturday morning while kneeling around the bedside we offered prayer and then while singing that old hymn

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee,
Let the water and the blood
From thy wounded side that flowed
Be of sin a double cure
Save from wrath and make me pure."

a smile brightened his countenance and his last words were, "all is well." So we submit unto the one who has power to give life and power to take it away. The funeral was held at Cynthia conducted by Rev. Elisha Kneisley.

Obituary.

Perhaps in the life of every one there comes a time when the heart is sore with grief and the head is bowed beneath the dark cloud of bereavement, when, sinful though it may be, the soul rebels against the decrees of providence and questions their justice.

On the morning of May 1, at half past seven, a spirit as pure and gentle as ever dwelt in mortal clay, quit the pain racked body of Mae B. West, and soared away to the bright realms of immortality, beyond the dark stream which we call death. For many months she had been confined a suffering prisoner on a bed of pain, the victim of that disease that baffles the skill of physicians. Throughout her painful illness she maintained a spirit of cheerfulness, which it was known she could not feel, but was assumed in order that her loved ones might not be distressed by her suffering.

While she was dying she called papa and mamma and her two brothers by name and twice the name of her brother that had passed over the dark stream three and a half years ago.

When life as we thought was too far gone for utterance, she said with a smile, "don't worry, I am all right." Her face and eyes were changed to a peaceful happy look and her eyes and smile told us she was seeing and recognizing friends that had gone on before. We all think she was seeing Heaven with all its brightness.

She had a large circle of friends in Denver as well as her schoolmates and friends in Highland county, Ohio, where she was born 23 years ago the 3rd of last February. She was dearly beloved by all who knew her. She was a ray of sunshine in the home and among her associates, possessed of a kind, loving disposition, always cheerful, never complained through all the long suffering days, always greeting everyone with a smile, and hearty hand shake when friends would come in to see her and when they would leave.

How comforting to the stricken soul is the blessed assurance of immortality beyond the grave. We find sweet consolation in the belief that our loved ones have entered upon a life of eternal peace and happiness in the realms beyond the stream; and when that spirit of rebellion against the power that bereaved us struggles for supremacy in our souls we ask ourselves if we should not rather rejoice that she has been freed from earthly pain, that she has reached the celestial port of peace, but a few fleeting months or years before us and if we should not envy her, rather than nurse our grief over her departure.

She is not dead. She did but close her eyes Upon the cares and trials of the earth. To open them again beyond the skies. In glorious raptures of the glad new birth. 'Twas but the lifeless tenement of clay. With stilled hands folded on the pulseless breast. That hands of those who loved her laid away In city where the silent sleepers rest. Look not upon the tomb, oh, ye who bear The load of grief. Look upward. She is there.
